

California Drought Wall of Shame August 22, 2014

Finally found a good example of a drought yard.

So if you see a house with sprinklers running in the middle of the day, or water running in the gutter from someone backwashing their pool, or other bits of silliness, please let me know: admin at LosAltosVillageWhiner dot org. Please let me know the extent to which you and/or the location of the photos should be identified.

It's the Water

Our dishwasher has been delivering a scummy finish to all glassware for about a month. All investigations, repairs did not fix it. I overheard someone in line at Safeway talking about Los Altos hard water and found this link.
